

Delivering Nourishment since 1973

In 1972, Title VI authorized funds for a national nutrition program for the elderly under the Older Americans Act of 1965. In 1973, Title V and Title IX created grants to local community agencies for multi-purpose senior centers and established congregate meals programs.

That same year, GA Foods began service as the nutrition services provider for our first customer (who is still a customer today!) For 45 years, we have grown and evolved with the elder services providers who are a critical backbone of support for the seniors in our communities.

Senior centers across the country have played a vital role in helping seniors maintain mental and physical health through their hard work and targeted programs. We are proud to have supported this mission since 1973.

For the first several years, GA Foods focused on supplying hot, nutritious meals to senior and child nutrition programs in Florida. From our main production facility in St. Petersburg, we continue to provide this service to programs ranging anywhere in size from 50 to over 4,000 hot meals per day. With this background, you can be assured that we are familiar with the special needs and wishes of both children and senior citizens.

After building a modern, spacious plant in 1985, we began production of pre-portioned frozen meals. Our plant meets the highest standards and is covered by continuous USDA inspection.

In 1989, we continued to offer innovation in the meal solution arena by expanding our product line to include the Total Meal System™, which consists of two, five or seven complete meals, including a frozen, ready-to-be-heated meal component, bread, margarine, fruit or dessert, and beverages. All of our meals are designed to meet or exceed federal and state regulatory guidelines.

During the 1990's, GA Foods opened four more kitchens in Florida to serve our growing customer base, and in 2004 we opened the sixth facility in Georgia to serve customers across the Southeast.

Today, in addition to our daily delivery to senior and child nutrition programs in Florida and Georgia, we provide our nutritious frozen and shelf-stable meals to customers in over 40 states. We also provide meals to the military and are a first-line meal provider in emergency response situations such as hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, and blizzards.
